42 DEAD IN RANGE DISASTER

Bottom of Lake Caves in on the Ida Mae or Milford Mine and Running Muck Suffocates Miners

Accident Occured it is Believed, Shortly after Blast was Put in after 4 O'clock--Survivor Tells Gruesome Story of Tragedy

5 BRAINERD MEN AMONG VICTIMS

Black Oozing Mud Chases Seven Men as They Fled for Safety Up the Shaft Ladders--Were Only Ones to Escape Death

The greatest catastrophe in the history of the Cuyuna iron range and in fact for any northern range occurred about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when 42 miners working in the old Ida Mae mine, now known as the Milford were drowned like rats in a hole when the waters of a shallow lake broke through into the workings and submerged the shift of men. The mine is located about six miles north of Ironton.

A blast is believed to have shaken the base of the lake and let in the death-dealing flood. The mine, whose fee is owned by George H. Crosby, of Duluth, was formerly operated by the Cuyuna-Minneapolis Iron company, and upon its receivership in that company reverted to the fee owner. The mine last year is said to have produced and shipped some 70,000 tons of manganiferous iron ore. The small lake on the property was regarded as no more than a duck pond and had no connection with Island lake, situated a quarter of a mile away.

The shaft is 200 feet in depth. The first level is at 135 feet, the second at 200 feet and the main one one where the men were at work is about 165 feet.

Mat Kangas' Story

Matt Kangas, an old miner who was saved from the rush of incoming muck and water crowding in from the lake bottom, described his experience. He was working about 400 feet from the shaft and did not hear any blast.

He suddenly felt the wind blow off his hat and extinguished his miners' light. Then the breeze or suction stopped, Kangas picked up his hat, relit his lamp and went back to his place in the drift. Again came a breath of wind and Kangas heard a roaring sound like a battery of flivvers.

Some young fellow, it was 16-year-old Frank Hrvatin, ran by and shouted, "The lake is coming in."

Another heavy gust of wind again blew out Kangas' miners' lamp. Kangas ran for the shaft ladder and at his heels came the slimy, oozing muck. On the ladder ahead were Emil Keino, Jack Ravanich, Mike Rusovich and a Brainerd man with young Hrvatin. Bringing up the rear was Harry Hosford.

Seven Saved From Black Flood

Kangas is an old man and climbed as best he could and two felter men passed him up the ladder to life. Hosford was shrieking, "Hurry, for God's sake," as the muck oozed and wrapped his feet, then his ankles and climbed his calves. More dead than alive, the seven miners plunged to the surface, and spread the alarm.

A report is current that one miner came up the skip after vainly beseeching three men at the base of the shaft to come up with him. He, like the 16-year-old boy, had heard the strange roaring and beat it for safety.

Wives and Children Crowd to Shaft

The mine, as is customary, has its location residents, and soon wives and children crowded to the shaft. But aid was in vain. Up came the slimy ooze, licking the sides of the shaft until within a few feet of the surface. It sloshed the sides and gurgled and then retreated a distance until at 11 o'clock at night it was 20 feet from the collar or top of the shaft.

May Take Weeks to Find Bodies

In their bed of muck deep down in the mine, on levels where they may have sought safety, lie the dead bodies of Captain Evan George Crellin, head of the mine; the shift boss, Herman Holm, of Cuyuna, and the 42 miners. No hope is held out for them and it may be days and weeks before the mine can be cleared and the bodies recovered.

Installing Sandsucker Pumps

Huge sandsucker pumps, such as are used in hydraulic mining, are being rushed to the location and will be used to drain the pond and then the shaft. A view of the death-dealing pond showed that its waters had dropped some four feet. Shore ice clung to the sides in places and the great mass of ice in the center had dropped with the lowering of the waters. Muddy banks were disclosed through the white snow patches.

When the Real Grief Comes

Stoically the wives and their families, with fatherless children numbering some 50, realize their hopelessness. The real grief and outpouring of pentup emotion will come when the bodies are brought to the surface and the Cuyuna iron range buries its dead, when funeral corteges by the dozen will wend their way over the hillsides to the little cemeteries and where in some cases it may be necessary to plot new cemeteries for those who do not wish their loved ones buried at a distance.

Mine Formerly Practically Dry

The mine, before the disaster, was practically dry, the pumps handling only about 500 gallons a minute. Only the day before some of the miners had commented on how comparatively dry the workings were.

Saw Father Perish

Fred or also called Frank by some of the miners, being young Hrvatin, was inconsolable. He had yelled a warning to the men below and saw his father run through the flood, only to perish when the mud licked up his footsteps and drew him into its slimy embrace.

Many Communities are Mourning

Many communities will mourn their dead. They include Crosby, Ironton, Brainerd, Cuyuna, Manganese, Wolford, Trommald, Aitkin, Klondike station and the mine location's little community.

Red Cross to Aid

The same night of the disaster the Red Cross of Ironton and Crosby took steps to relieve suffering. A meeting was held this morning at the First National bank with the president, Mrs. M. B. Ellingson presiding, and Cashier A. H. Proctor of the bank assisting.

The Dispatch secured a list of all families and the single men, the number of children in families, the number of miners' wives in hospitals, etc. The range Red Cross is a branch of Brainerd chapter and the latter, early Tuesday evening, through its president, Mrs. J. A. Thabes, offered the services of nurses and doctors. The Brainerd Clinic offered its staff of physicians.

5 Brainerd Men Among Victims

In the roll of the dead are believed four Brainerd men: C. Davis; Carlson, designated as Emil of Crosby; young Clinton Harris, the skip tender, and Nels Ritari, whose brother is the alderman of the fourth ward in Brainerd. Another former Brainerd man is young Roy Cunningham.

Where Property is Located

The property of the Milford mine, scene of yesterday's gruesome tragedy, covers two forties, the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter, and the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 23, township 47, range 29. The shaft itself is located on the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter. The larger lake is known as Island lake and lies to the northwest of the mine shaft. The smaller lake or duck pond lies immediately east of the shaft about a quarter of a mile. The forty in the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter is low and swampy land. The Soo line taps the mine property and runs midway between the lakes.

The water of Island lake did not penetrate the mine, as high ground intervenes between mine and this lake.

Mining Inspector Arrives

August Swanson, mining inspector, whose residence is in Brainerd, arrived early on the scene and will remain there some time probing the accident.

George H. Crosby, of Duluth, fee owner of the mine, arrived last midnight on the Soo train. A flat car attached to the pas-

WILSON BURIED ON HILLTOP AND MANY PAY HIM HOMAGE

HIS WISH TO BE LAID TO REST WITHOUT POMP OR CEREMONY IS OBSERVED

GRAVE ENFOLDS HIS BODY AND HE LIES ENSHRINED IN HEARTS OF CITIZENS

(By United Press)

Washington, Feb. 6.—Washington's foremost private citizen will be buried today on a hilltop overlooking the scene of his triumph and his pain.

At three o'clock this afternoon will begin the funeral of Woodrow Wilson. A few friends will gather at the home for services so brief as to seem almost hurried.

Then between thousands of fellow citizens they will carry the body of Mr. Wilson to the tree covered height known as Mt. St. Albans and to the solemn ritual of the Episcopal church.

Then the cold and narrow grave will receive him. It was his own express wish that he be buried without pomp or ceremony, but the funeral will be an occasion for a worldwide tribute such as few men are accorded.

Wherever the American flag flies over ship or on land the funeral will be marked either by the booming of signals or by salutes.

Orders have gone from the war and navy department to every man on shore or sea to pay this homage.

Here in this country where he towers so majestic a figure, people will stop for two minutes and all will be silent. Every activity in the nation's capital will be stilled for two minutes at 2:30 o'clock.

Then only the sound of the voice of the bishop will be heard as he says:

"I am the resurrection and the life."

CEREMONIES UNDER MOURNING SKIES

Washington, Feb. 6.—Woodrow Wilson lies at rest.

The grave today enfolded his body; the hearts of his countrymen enshrined his memory.

Under mourning skies that dropped gray rain, they carried the warrior chieftain this afternoon through the gateway called peace and laid him down to sleep.

The drip of rain from the branches, the rustle of the oak leaves, a sob in the crowd, a far away boom of a gun and the cadences of the bishop's voice—these marked the hour.

Above him is the great unfinished structure of the national cathedral typical of his unfinished work, but going on to completion, as his faith told him his work would go on.

STARTLING CHARGES MADE BY CHARLES B. BREWER IN SUIT

ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL FILES SUIT IN SUPREME COURT

(By United Press)

Washington, Feb. 6.—Wholesale duplication of liberty bonds of every issue since 1918 in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the implication of treasury officials are included in the startling charges made by Charles B. Brewer, special assistant to the attorney general, in a suit filed in the District of Columbia supreme court.

Brewer's suit after he had charged department of justice with attempting to seize evidence he had collected at the personal request of President Coolidge and the late President Harding. He said he had refused to surrender the documents to the department for fear they would be suppressed and be discredited.

Brewer in his suit asked for an injunction restraining Secretary Mellon, Attorney General Daugherty, under secretary of the Treasury Winston and Acting Attorney General Seymour from destroying nearly $1,000,000 of duplicated bonds in his possession.

Immediately after filing his suit, Brewer met a score of progressive senators and congressmen and laid his charges before them.

Representative King of Illinois announced that he would intervene and become a party to the suit.

Brewer in his petition said he had surrendered to King the key to his safety deposit box in alcohol bank which contained evidence he has collected on duplicate bonds.

Acting under personal instructions from President Coolidge, Brewer said he submitted a full report of his investigation to Attorney General Daugherty on January 15, 1924.

This evidence, he alleged, revealed graft, bribery and corruption in the bureau of engraving and printing.

In this report Brewer charged: "Conditions at the bureau of engraving were appalling."

"Knowledge of duplicate bonds was suppressed by treasury officials and the secret service."

"Half of the surrendered bonds were destroyed when known to be duplications."

"Between June 27, 1921 and May 22, 1922, 45 million bonds with a face value of over ten billion dollars were destroyed, hundreds of which were recorded as duplications. Bonds issued in packages from the treasury have been found to be spurious."

"The president was defied and this investigation has been thwarted and nearly blocked by the treasury."

Brewer's suit adds another chapter to the summary of discharges of James Wilmeth and 28 officials of the bureau by President Harding on March 31, 1922.

Wilmeth and two discharged officials were recently cleared of all blame by Mellon and ordered reinstated.

Silas H. Strawn, (upper) former president of the Illinois Bar Association and the Chicago Bar Association was appointed late yesterday together with Thomas W. Infantile Legie.

Prof. George Herbert Palmer of Harvard says that the masculine habit of rigid, logical reasoning is contracted very early, and in illustration he tells the following story: "A little boy and girl of my acquaintance were tucked up snug in bed when their mother heard them talking. 'I wonder what we're here for?' asked the little boy. The little girl remembered the lessons that had been taught her, and replied, sweetly, 'We are here to help others.' The little boy snuffed. 'Then, what are the others here for?'"

Clean Picking.

An enterprising coal dealer adopted for his "slogan," which he printed on his bills, the following motto: "It's a black business, but we treat you white." A customer, on receiving his account recently for his supply of coal at the price of $22 per ton, inclosed his check in payment, and at the same time suggested that the merchant change his motto to read: "It's a dirty business, but we clean you."

BANDITS WITH STORM
AS COVER ROB BANK

(By United Press)

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 6.—Working under cover of the worst blizzard in years, bandits here yesterday robbed the University State bank of $20,000.

Miss Elizabeth Pitton, assistant cashier, and three other employees were forced into the vault at the point of a revolver. No trace of the robbers has been found.

True Bohemian Life

Most of us students in Paris were poor. I had $50 a month allowance, but I roomed with a fellow who had only $20 for everything—and he made it do.

We lived in the rue de Douai in Montmartre. The room, six flights up, with a trapdoor for a window, was furnished with two iron cots and very little else. I remember we used champagne bottles for water. For all this we paid 30 francs a month. No heat, of course, and in winter the cold was unspeakable.

One night I got an idea, and, taking my blanket, started across the icy, red-tiled floor to get into my roommate's bunk. In the middle of the room I ran into someone. It was he coming to sleep with me! We laughed and went out and bought a roast chicken and a bottle of wine. It did not take much to start a party in those days.—From "Seven to Seventy," by Edward Stummons.

Effect of Oppression.

The oppression of any people for opinion's sake has rarely had any other effect than to fix those opinions deeper, and render them more important.—Hsien Ballou.

senger train carried mine equipment for unwatering the mine.

About Brainerd Men

Nels Ritari of Brainerd who met death in the black flood, is a brother of Alderman Ernest Ritari and was formerly employed by the Woodhead Motor company here. He leaves a wife and five children.

Clinton Harris, skip tender, is well known in Brainerd. He is a son of Thomas Harris of Fort Ripley.

C. Davis is a Brainerd man whose relatives have not yet been located.

Emil Carlson of Crosby, whose wife is in a hospital, is believed to have formerly lived in Brainerd.

Story of Quiet Heroism

A story of quiet heroism is reported of a Crosby telephone girl who stuck to her post putting through hundreds of calls, and knowing that her own brother had been engulfed in the black, slimy death at the mine.

Tragedy Worst of Its Kind

Yesterday's tragedy is the worst of its kind in the history of the Lake Superior district, the previous most serious disaster being the Amosa Porta mine tragedy on the Menominee range in 1915, when 17 men were killed. In 1912, six men lost their lives at the Ruddle mine at Biwabik.

Mine experts declared it is likely the bodies of the victims of the disaster may not be recovered for months, and even then some may be lost forever in the mud that will remain when the mine is pumped dry.

Machinery for pumping out the mine was shipped from Duluth last night and it is expected the water will be removed at the rate of 1,000 gallons a minute.

Captain Crellin, who was in command of the mine crew and who lost his life, was only 30 years old. He was the son of Capt. John Crellin, the oldest mine captain on the Mesaba range. His home is in Eveleth. Another son of the senior Crellin was the first Mesaba range man to lose his life in the World War.

Begin Pumping

Work of clearing the mine of water got under way shortly before midnight last night, after the arrival of August Swanson of Brainerd, a state mine inspector. Two pumps with a total capacity of 6,000 gallons a minute are being used. The water from the mine will be pumped into Island lake, which is about a quarter of a mile from the mine and beyond the swamp pond whose waters flooded the mine. This probably will take a week.

This pond at its nearest point is hardly more than 150 feet from the mine shaft. It is about 20 feet deep normally and a quarter of a mile wide at its widest point.

Mine officials rushed pumping equipment to the scene at once. Possibly 30 days will be consumed in the task of emptying the mine, it was pointed out, when widows and orphans of the miners will receive the bodies of their loved ones.

Superintendent Middlebrook, of the mine, took charge, roping off a section to guard against the throng that swiftly gathered about the scene of the tragedy—some to see, and some to grieve over their loss.

Adjutant Rhinow on Way to Mine. Adjutant W. F. Rhinow, of St. Paul, accompanied by his aids, Captain E. Lindell and Lieutenant Oscar Christiansen, passed through the city this afternoon enroute to the scene of the Milford mine disaster. Adjutant Rhinow states that he is holding Company B, 135th infantry of Aitkin, in readiness for immediate duty if he finds it necessary to call upon troops.

Governor Preus Orders Official Investigation

Minneapolis, Feb. 6. — Governor Preus last night ordered an investigation of the Crosby mine disaster, both as to the cause and condition of the families of the entombed miners.

Governor Preus said he would call a conference of the state calamity board for this morning to provide means for the care of the miners' families and assist in the rescue work.

families and assist in the rescue work.

U. S. Rescue Car Will Not Be Sent to Mine

Duluth, Feb. 6.—W. H. Carrick, engineer in charge of Rescue Car No. 10 of the United States Bureau of Mines, stated that the car would not be sent to the disaster.

"The car is not equipped for floods," Mr. Carrick said. "The problem at Crosby is to pump the water out and recovering the bodies."

Mr. Carrick will leave this morning for Crosby to render what assistance he can. The rescue car is now at Ableman, Wis.

EVELETH OFFICIALS MUST RESTORE FUND

COURT RULES APPROPRIATIONS FOR VILLAGE SPORTS PROGRAM IS CONTRARY TO LAW

(By United Press)

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 6.—Mayor Victor Essling and the city officials of Eveleth, are bound to restore all money to the city alleged to have been misappropriated to sponsor the Eveleth sports program, according to a decision in the restoration action brought by H. L. Burns, against the officials and two bonding companies, filed today with the clerk of the district court by Judge Edward Freeman, before whom the case was heard.

The action has been under way for nearly a year. According to the findings of fact and conclusions of law filed by Judge Freeman, all appropriations mentioned were made contrary to law and constitute misappropriations of public money.

The sum, which with interest to date, totals $86,694, it alleged to have been appropriated by the village council for the payment of expenses incident to the establishment and maintaining of hockey and baseball teams, and the furtherance of a municipal athletic program.

S. D. BANK HEAD COMMITTS SUICIDE

(By United Press)

Rapid City, S. D., Feb. 6.—Harry Wentz, former president of the South Dakota Bankers association, committed suicide at his home late yesterday.

Wentz had been suffering from a nervous breakdown for the past year. Six South Dakota banks of which he was president were reported in good condition by examiners today.

Wentz carried $100,000 life insurance. Police were informed.

BOY SCOUTS IN PARADE SATURDAY

Led by "Jimmy Crow Wing," Exemplifying 8th Scout Law, Which Says a Scout is Cheerful

TOUR DOWN TOWN STREETS

Parade Will Wind Up at the "Y" Where Boys Band Will Discourse Sweet Music

Led by "Jimmy Crow Wing," who is to exemplify the 8th Scout Law, which says "A Scout is Cheerful," he smiles whenever he can," the big Scout parade will move off at 10:30 a. m., on Saturday February 9th, for a tour of the downtown streets as a part of "Activities" Day of the Crow Wing Councils observance of the 14th Anniversary of Scouting.

As the procession reaches the City Hall "Jimmy Crow Wing" will ride his "charger" up to the steps of the building and will be presented the keys to the city by his Honor the Mayor, and informed that he and his "gang" are welcome to everything that is not nailed down.

Continuing down the street the parade will wind up at the "Y" building where sweet music will be rendered by the Juvenile Band under the direction of Prof. Pflock, and then with a wave of his hand "Jimmy" will announce the opening of the First Annual Exhibit of the Boy Scouts of Crow Wing county.

Each Troop of Scouts in Crow Wing Council expects to be on hand and take part in the parade, with flags, patrol emblems and streamers galore, and if the weather is favorable there will be "some" parade.

Each visiting scout will be entertained at dinner by a local scout, and at 6 p. m. there will be a Bean Feed given for all local and visiting scouts.

During the day there will be street demonstrations of Signaling, Knot tying, First Aid, Fire Rescues, etc., and "souvenirizers" will be given out to the public.

The exhibit that will be opened in the "Y" will show all kinds of handiwork and woodcraft, and many of the "hobbies" of the boys.

One side of the room will be used for an educational exhibit of the things that are required of a boy as he progresses from one rank to another in Scouting, and this will be especially interesting to the public at large, who may not be familiar with just what Boy Scouts do.

A special camp scene will be erected in the rear of the room, and will feature the Boy Scout camp at North Long Lake—camp "Pug-Ona-Ge-Shig," where it is expected that nearly 250 Boy Scouts will spend one to two weeks in camp this summer learning woodcraft, campercraft, health and happiness, as can only be taught in a Boy Scout camp.

This exhibit will be open to the public on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 9th, 11th and 12th, as follows: Saturday, all day; Monday from 1:30 to 9 P. M.; Tuesday from 1:30 to 9 P. M. Be sure you see the exhibit—and don't forget to watch the big parade Saturday morning. "Standing room" only, so be on hand early and get your "parking" space.

more Ford cars and trucks were produced last year than the previous year, an increase of over 50 per cent.

In spite of this tremendous increase in production, it was impossible to meet delivery requirements during the spring and summer months when orders for 350,000 Ford Cars and Trucks could not be filled.

This year winter buying for immediate delivery has been more active than ever before—and in addition 200,000 orders have already been booked through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan for spring delivery.

These facts clearly indicate that the demand during this spring and summer will be far greater than ever, and that orders should be placed immediately with Ford Dealers as a means of protection against delay in securing your Ford Car or Truck or Fordson Tractor.

42 ARE DEAD IN RANGE DISASTER

senger train carried mine equipment for unwatering the mine.

About Brainerd Men

Nels Ritari of Brainerd who met death in the black flood, is a brother of Alderman Ernest Ritari and was formerly employed by the Woodhead Motor company here. He leaves a wife and five children.

Clinton Harris, skip tender, is well known in Brainerd. He is a son of Thomas Harris of Fort Ripley.

C. Davis is a Brainerd man whose relatives have not yet been located.

Emil Carlson of Crosby, whose wife is in a hospital, is believed to have formerly lived in Brainerd.

Story of Quiet Heroism

A story of quiet heroism is reported of a Crosby telephone girl who stuck to her post putting through hundreds of calls, and knowing that her own brother had been engulfed in the black, slimy death at the mine.

Tragedy Worst of Its Kind

Yesterday's tragedy is the worst of its kind in the history of the Lake Superior district, the previous most serious disaster being the Amosa Porta mine tragedy on the Menominee range in 1915, when 17 men were killed. In 1912, six men lost their lives at the Ruddle mine at Biwabik.

Mine experts declared it is likely the bodies of the victims of the disaster may not be recovered for months, and even then some may be lost forever in the mud that will remain when the mine is pumped dry. Machinery for pumping out the mine was shipped from Duluth last night and it is expected the water will be removed at the rate of 1,000 gallons a minute.

Captain Crellin, who was in command of the mine crew and who lost his life, was only 30 years old. He was the son of Capt. John Crellin, the oldest mine captain on the Mesaba range. His home is in Eveleth. Another son of the senior Crellin was the first Mesaba range man to lose his life in the World War.

Begin Pumping

Work of clearing the mine of water got under way shortly before midnight last night, after the arrival of August Swanson of Brainerd, a state mine inspector. Two pumps with a total capacity of 6,000 gallons a minute are being used. The water from the mine will be pumped into Island lake, which is about a quarter of a mile from the mine and beyond the swamp pond whose waters flooded the mine. This probably will take a week.

This pond at its nearest point is hardly more than 150 feet from the mine shaft. It is about 20 feet deep normally and a quarter of a mile wide at its widest point.

Mine officials rushed pumping equipment to the scene at once. Possibly 30 days will be consumed in the task of emptying the mine, it was pointed out, when widows and orphans of the miners will receive the bodies of their loved ones.

Superintendent Middlebrook, of the mine, took charge, roping off a section to guard against the throng that swiftly gathered about the scene of the tragedy—some to see, and some to grieve over their loss.

Adjutant Rhinow on Way to Mine

Adjutant W. F. Rhinow, of St. Paul, accompanied by his aids, Captain E. Lindell and Lieutenant Oscar Christiansen, passed through the city this afternoon enroute to the scene of the Milford mine disaster. Adjutant Rhinow states that he is holding Company B, 135th Infantry of Aitkin, in readiness for immediate duty if he finds it necessary to call upon troops.

Governor Preus Orders Official Investigation

Minneapolis, Feb. 6. — Governor Preus last night ordered an investigation of the Crosby mine disaster, both as to the cause and condition of the families of the entombed miners.

Governor Preus said he would call a conference of the state calamity board for this morning to provide means for the care of the miners' families and assist in the rescue work.

U. S. Rescue Car Will Not Be Sent to Mine

Duluth, Feb. 6. — W. H. Carrick, engineer in charge of Rescue Car No. 10 of the United States Bureau of Mines, stated that the car would not be sent to the disaster.

"The car is not equipped for floods," Mr. Carrick said. "The problem at Crosby is to pump the water out and recovering the bodies."

Mr. Carrick will leave this morning for Crosby to render what assistance he can. The rescue car is now at Ableman, Wis.

EVELETH OFFICIALS MUST RESTORE FUND

COURT RULES APPROPRIATIONS FOR VILLAGE SPORTS PROGRAM IS CONTRARY TO LAW

(By United Press)

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 6. — Mayor Victor Essling and the city officials of Eveleth, are bound to restore all money to the city alleged to have been misappropriated to sponsor the Eveleth sports program, according to a decision in the restoration action brought by H. L. Burns, against the officials and two bonding companies, filed today with the clerk of the district court by Judge Edward Freeman, before whom the case was heard.

The action has been under way for nearly a year. According to the findings of fact and conclusions of law filed by Judge Freeman, all appropriations mentioned were made contrary to law and constitute misappropriations of public money.

The sum, which with interest to date, totals $86,694, it alleged to have been appropriated by the village council for the payment of expenses incident to the establishment and maintaining of hockey and baseball teams, and the furtherance of a municipal athletic program.

THE RANGE BOWS ITS HEAD IN SORROW

WHEN disaster strikes home, it causes men to sympathize and express their wish to aid the unfortunate. The Cuyuna iron range faces today the most terrible disaster in all its history of mining. For many seasons it has boasted of a record unmarred even by ordinary accident.

Yet, when the blow came it was of the most appalling kind and 42 miners have given up their lives while serving the public in their industry and calling. Men who go to sea in ships fast storms, but they are as nothing compared with the deadly rush of slimy mud which burst in caverned ceiling and oozed upon the men and suffocated them.

The dead are trapped in the mine and will in due time, when pumping machinery does its work of reclamation, be restored to loved ones for final burial. There remains our duty to the living and they include wives bereft of husbands, some 50 fatherless children, and sons who were the support of parents or other relatives.

The Red Cross was quick to extend the hand of relief and comfort and Crosby-Ironton department of the Brainerd Chapter functioned quickly and is being assisted by the local chapter. In many homes where the hand of death has cast its shadow, father was he who cut the wood, built the fires and did the chores. In some half a dozen homes there is further misfortune, for mother is sick in some hospital.

There is bound to be misery and suffering coupled with the agony of knowing that loved ones are buried under a sea of mud and muck. It is for us to dedicate ourselves to helping the living and again re-establishing them in this community of ours, for the range is a living and vital part of Crow Wing county.

BUS TAXES RAISED IN IOWA

BUS owners are finding Iowa's new bus taxes quite a burden. Miss Helen Schultz, petite manager of the Mason City line, has expressed herself in no uncertain way as to mounting tax costs. At present she is operating eight buses out of Mason City. The state tax for this amounts to about $12 a day or $350 a month. On top of that, of course, is $180 for a license each year and $20 for federal tax, according to the bus line operator.

It is reported it will cost the Waterloo Cedar Rapids and Northern, which operate six buses, $567.45 a month, or $18.91 a day, not including chauffeurs' salaries, interest on equipment, investment and upkeep. The motor bus company, operating five buses between Waterloo and Cedar Falls, will have to pay $431.80 a month, or $14.39 a day. In the figures given are included state tax, motor vehicle license fees, federal tax and cost of gasoline.

SHE DEFEATED CHAMPION

THE DISPATCH the other evening published a picture of a girl and boy paced by an automobile and skating a 60 mile an hour gait. It looked as though this was "going some," but even that speed was excelled for Miss Hazel Bilty, niece of Charles Stadlbauer, of Brainerd, defeated Miss Gladys Robinson, of Toronto, the auto paced champion, in a speed contest at Chicago recently.

Reverend James H. Taylor of the Central Presbyterian church pronounced the funeral rites.

"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.

"Through the same words of the majestic psalm he moved to its climax, breathing hope and peace.

"And I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Voice Rises in Prayer

In the deepening hush rose a voice in prayer.

It was Reverend Sylvester Beach who was Mr. Wilson's spiritual advisor in the days of his presidency at the Princeton University.

"O, Lord, Jesus Christ, we beseech Thee to comfort these Thy servants in their present sorrow. And as Thou didst send the Holy Ghost to be the comforter of Thy people strengthen them by the manifestation of His gracious indwelling that they will be enabled to contemplate the joy of that future home where Thyself is ever seen and worshipped as the light and satisfaction of Thine elect who dwell with the Father in the unity of the same spirit, one God, world without end," he prayed.

The Bishop James E. Freeman, head of the Episcopal diocese of Washington, opened the leather covered bible sent to Mr. Wilson by a soldier in France—one of his buddies—a book which Mr. Wilson treasured above all others because he felt it linked him with the men he sent to war and whose sufferings he shared.

"The eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms. He shall thrust out the enemies from before thee and shall destroy them.

This passage was read from Deuteronomy, Chapter 33, Verse 27.

"Now unto Him that is able to keep you from falling and to present

you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy to Thee, the only wise God and Saviour, the glory and majesty, dominions and power, both now and forever. Amen."

This from the 24th and 25th verses of Judges.

Benediction Pronounced

The benediction was pronounced by Bishop Freeman and ended the brief services in the home.

Then the strong arms of soldiers, sailors and marines—picked men of the service Mr. Wilson commanded in the war days, lifted the coffin and bore it to the hearse outside.

Behind the body came the honorary pall bearers, former classmates and associates of the dead ex-president. They were: Cleveland H. Dodge, Cyrus H. McCormick, Dr. E. P. Davis and Dr. Hiram Woods of the Princeton class of 1879 in which Mr. Wilson graduated, Frank L. Polk, David F. Houston, Newton D. Baker, Josephus Daniels, Albert Bursleson, John Barton Payne, William C. E. Redfield, Edwin T. Meredith, Thomas W. Gregory, members of the Wilson cabinet and Senators Swanson and Glass of Virginia, former Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, Representatives Garrett of Tennessee and Charles S. Hamlin of the federal reserve board; President and Mrs. Coolidge followed them and then came the widow, the two daughters, Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. William G. McAdoo, William G. McAdoo, Joseph Wilson of Baltimore, a brother, John Randolph Bollings and Wilmer Bollings, brothers of Mrs. Wilson.

Outside thousands had gathered and stood with bowed heads in the rain. Tears were not withheld.

Procession Moves to Hilltop Cathedral. Silently without the roll of drums or the pomp of state the body bearers put their burden into the hearse and through massed thousands of people the little procession moved off toward the cathedral on the hill top.

Here and there along the road stood a little group of men around a flag. Empty sleeves, twisted limbs, crutches—these marked them for victims of the world war.

Then came the salute as he went by. He was their chief.

At the cathedral 6,000 people had gathered under the trees. They heard the services by radio while broadcasting arrangements carried it far and wide over the country.

At the entrance to the Bethlehem chapel, the doorway marked "the Way to Peace," the procession paused.

From within came the majestic sound of the funeral march.

Bishop Freeman in his robes met the body and going before it to the Peace gateway repeated the words of hope:

"I am the resurrection and the life. I know that my redeemer liveth.

"Lord let me know mine end," began the bishop and all through the 39th Psalm. The lesson was then read from 1st Corinthians, chapter 15. "Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept—for this corruption must put on incorruption—therefore be ye steadfast always abounding in the work of the Lord for as much as ye know your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

Clear and sweet rose the voices of the choir in a hymn—"Day is dying in the West."

CATHEDRAL TOWERED GHOSTLIKE IN GLOOM

Washington, Feb. 6.—Under leaden skies from which rain occasionally fell in a drizzle, Mr. Wilson's funeral today was in the hues of mourning.

Indications were that the inclement weather would last all day.

Out of the hazy great cathedral which will be Mr. Wilson's tomb towered ghostlike amid its settings of trees on Mt. St. Albans.

MILWAUKEE HONORS WILSON'S MEMORY

Milwaukee, Feb. 6.—Milwaukee today will pay reverent tribute to the memory of Woodrow Wilson, wartime president despite the fact that Mayor Daniel W. Hoan has refused to sign a resolution of condolence adopted by the city council and which was forwarded to Mrs. Wilson.

Mayor Hoan announced he would not sign the resolution because it declared that "Woodrow Wilson was a great American."

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD IN BRAINERD

The New Park theatre was well filled with citizens who attended the memorial services for ex-President Woodrow Wilson, this afternoon. The services started at 1 o'clock and lasted about 35 minutes. Kirk Smith, commander of the local American Legion post, presided, announcing the following program:

Invocation—Rev. E. A. Cooke. Selections by the American Legion Quartet.

Eulogy of President Wilson—D. H. Fullerton.

Solo—Dr. G. I. Badaux. Benediction—Rev. E. A. Cooke.

The stage was appropriately decorated for the occasion with ferns and flowers. A large picture of Mr. Wilson draped in mourning and the flag draped. The Legion quartet included S. F. Alderman, Rowland Jenkins, Harry Molgren and A. C. Mraz. Mrs. Walter F. Wieland was pianist.

GERMAN EMBASSY UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Washington, Feb. 6.—Police today removed an American flag from above the door of the German embassy where it had been raised following the embassy's refusal to honor Woodrow Wilson's passing by displaying the German emblem at half mast.

The embassy was under heavy guard this morning pending a promise that the flag would be half-masted at 12:30 p. m.

Faster and Funnier Than "The Hottentot," Says Prominent Critic of "Going Up"

Letter From Western Editor of the Photoplay Magazine To Douglas MacLean

Dear Mr. MacLean:

After having seen "GOING UP" at the Writers' Club last evening I cannot resist the temptation of telling you what a wonderful comedy I think it is. During the last two reels I wished the film would break or the lights go out—anything so that I might catch my breath and rest my laugh-weary sides.

I have seen a great many previews at the Writers' Club. No picture ever presented there has scored like "GOING UP" did. The Writers' Club is the most critical, picture-wise audience in the country and the fact that your production received unanimous and enthusiastic praise speaks highly for its future success. When you can see and hear famous authors, directors and actors shrieking with laughter as they did last night you may be sure your picture is great entertainment.

It is infinitely superior to "The Hottentot," which I understand is considered your outstanding success to date, having all of "The Hottentot's" virtues and many more. It is faster, funnier and doesn't let down for an instant. Above all, it is so delightfully clean and wholesome. In brief, a knockout. May you make many more like it.

Sincerely,

Adela Rogers St. Johns.

WORK WILL BEGIN SOON ON NEW DAM

Royalton, Feb. 6.—Engineers, surveyors and foremen are arriving to begin work on the Mississippi river dam, three and a half miles northwest of Royalton. The contract for the construction has been taken by James O. Heyworth, contractor, of Chicago.

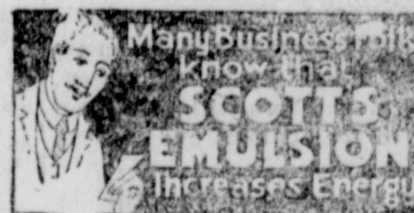

Bunk houses and other necessary buildings are to be constructed soon and the work will go along steadily, with the exception of inclement weather, during the winter months. Work was started clearing the site of trees and brush. There are 12 men employed now and more may be added next week. When the work gets under way it will require from 300 to 400 men.

The greatest need at present, these in charge say, is round coffee bean material. This timber must be six inches thick at the top and measure up to 16 feet long.

THE RANGE BOWS ITS HEAD IN SORROW

WHEN disaster strikes home, it causes men to sympathize and express their wish to aid the unfortunate. The Cuyuna iron range faces today the most terrible disaster in all its history of mining. For many seasons it has boasted of a record unmarred even by ordinary accident.

Yet, when the blow came it was of the most appalling kind and 42 miners have given up their lives while serving the public in their industry and calling. Men who go to sea in ships face storms, but they are as nothing compared with the deadly rush of slimy mud which burst in caverned ceiling and oozed upon the men and suffocated them.

The dead are trapped in the mine and will in due time, when pumping machinery does its work of reclamation, be restored to loved ones for final burial. There remains our duty to the living and they include wives bereft of husbands, some 50 fatherless children, and sons who were the support of parents or other relatives.

The Red Cross was quick to extend the hand of relief and comfort and Crosby-Ironton department of the Brainerd Chapter functioned quickly and is being assisted by the local chapter. In many homes where the hand of death has cast its shadow, father was he who cut the wood, built the fires and did the chores. In some half a dozen homes there is further misfortune, for mother is sick in some hospital.

There is bound to be misery and suffering coupled with the agony of knowing that loved ones are buried under a sea of mud and muck. It is for us to dedicate ourselves to helping the living and again re-establishing them in this community of ours, for the range is a living and vital part of Crow Wing county.

BUS TAXES RAISED IN IOWA

BUS owners are finding Iowa's new bus taxes quite a burden. Miss Helen Schultz, petite manager of the Mason City line, has expressed herself in no uncertain way as to mounting tax costs. At present she is operating eight buses out of Mason City. The state tax for this amounts to about $12 a day or $350 a month. On top of that, of course, is $180 for a license each year and $20 for federal tax, according to the bus line operator.

It is reported it will cost the Waterloo Cedar Rapids and Northern, which operate six buses, $567.45 a month, or $18.91 a day, not including chauffeurs' salaries, interest on equipment, investment and upkeep. The motor bus company, operating five buses between Waterloo and Cedar Falls, will have to pay $431.80 a month, or $14.39 a day. In the figures given are included state tax, motor vehicle license fees, federal tax and cost of gasoline.

SHE DEFEATED CHAMPION

THE DISPATCH the other evening published a picture of a girl and boy paced by an automobile and skating a 60 mile an hour gait. It looked as though this was "going some," but even that speed was excelled for Miss Hazel Bilty, niece of Charles Stadlbauer, of Brainerd, defeated Miss Gladys Robinson, of Toronto, the auto paced champion, in a speed contest at Chicago recently.

Reverend James H. Taylor of the Central Presbyterian church pronounced the funeral rites.

"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.

"Through the same words of the majestic psalm he moved to its climax, breathing hope and peace.

"And I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Voice Rises in Prayer

In the deepening hush rose a voice in prayer.

It was Reverend Sylvester Beach who was Mr. Wilson's spiritual advisor in the days of his presidency at the Princeton University.

"O, Lord, Jesus Christ, we beseech Thee to comfort these Thy servants in their present sorrow. And as Thou didst send the Holy Ghost to be the comforter of Thy people strengthen them by the manifestation of His gracious indwelling that they will be enabled to contemplate the joy of that future home where Thyself is ever seen and worshipped as the light and satisfaction of Thine elect who dwell with the Father in the unity of the same spirit, one God, world without end," he prayed.

The Bishop James E. Freeman, head of the Episcopal diocese of Washington, opened the leather covered bible sent to Mr. Wilson by a soldier in France—one of his buddies—a book which Mr. Wilson treasured above all others because he felt it linked him with the men he sent to war and whose sufferings he shared.

"The eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms. He shall thrust out the enemies from before thee and shall destroy them.

This passage was read from Deuteronomy, Chapter 33, Verse 27.

"Now unto Him that is able to keep you from falling and to present

you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy to Thee, the only wise God and Saviour, the glory and majesty, dominions and power, both now and forever. Amen."

This from the 24th and 25th verses of Judges.

Benediction Pronounced

The benediction was pronounced by Bishop Freeman and ended the brief services in the home.

Then the strong arms of soldiers, sailors and marines—picked men of the service Mr. Wilson commanded in the war days, lifted the coffin and bore it to the hearse outside.

Behind the body came the honorary pall bearers, former classmates and associates of the dead ex-president. They were: Cleveland H. Dodge, Cyrus H. McCormick, Dr. E. P. Davis and Dr. Hiram Woods of the Princeton class of 1879 in which Mr. Wilson graduated, Frank L. Polk, David F. Houston, Newton D. Baker, Josephus Daniels, Albert Bursleson, John Barton Payne, William C. E. Redfield, Edwin T. Meredith, Thomas W. Gregory, members of the Wilson cabinet and Senators Swanson and Glass of Virginia, former Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, Representatives Garrett of Tennessee and Charles S. Hamlin of the federal reserve board; President and Mrs. Coolidge followed them and then came the widow, the two daughters, Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. William G. McAdoo, William G. McAdoo, Joseph Wilson of Baltimore, a brother, John Randolph Bollings and Wilmer Bollings, brothers of Mrs. Wilson.

Outside thousands had gathered and stood with bowed heads in the rain. Tears were not withheld.

Procession Moves to Hilltop Cathedral Silently without the roll of drums or the pomp of state the body bearers put their burden into the hearse and through massed thousands of people the little procession moved off toward the cathedral on the hill top.

Here and there along the road stood a little group of men around a flag. Empty sleeves, twisted limbs, crutches—these marked them for victims of the world war.

Then came the salute as he went by. He was their chief.

At the cathedral 6,000 people had gathered under the trees. They heard the services by radio while broadcasting arrangements carried it far and wide over the country.

At the entrance to the Bethlehem chapel, the doorway marked "the Way to Peace," the procession paused.

From within came the majestic sound of the funeral march.

Bishop Freeman in his robes met the body and going before it to the Peace gateway repeated the words of hope:

"I am the resurrection and the life. I know that my redeemer liveth.

"Lord let me know mine end," began the bishop and all through the 39th Psalm. The lesson was then read from 1st Corinthians, chapter 15. "Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept—for this corruption must put on incorruption—therefore be ye steadfast always abounding in the work of the Lord for as much as ye know your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

Clear and sweet rose the voices of the choir in a hymn—"Day is dying in the West."

CATHEDRAL TOWERED GHOSTLIKE IN GLOOM

Washington, Feb. 6.—Under leaden skies from which rain occasionally fell in a drizzle, Mr. Wilson's funeral today was in the hues of mourning.

Indications were that the inclement weather would last all day.

Out of the muck the great cathedral which will be Mr. Wilson's tomb towered ghostlike amid its settings of trees on Mt. St. Albans.

MILWAUKEE HONORS WILSON'S MEMORY

Milwaukee, Feb. 6.—Milwaukee today will pay reverent tribute to the memory of Woodrow Wilson, wartime president despite the fact that Mayor Daniel W. Hoan has refused to sign a resolution of condolence adopted by the city council and which was forwarded to Mrs. Wilson.

Mayor Hoan announced he would not sign the resolution because it declared that "Woodrow Wilson was a great American."

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD IN BRAINERD

The New Park theatre was well filled with citizens who attended the memorial services for ex-President Woodrow Wilson, this afternoon. The services started at 1 o'clock and lasted about 35 minutes. Kirk Smith, commander of the local American Legion post, presided, announcing the following program:

Invocation—Rev. E. A. Cooke.
Selections by the American Legion Quartet.

Eulogy of President Wilson—D. H. Fullerton.

Solo—Dr. G. I. Badeaux.

Benediction—Rev. E. A. Cooke.

The stage was appropriately decorated for the occasion with ferns and flowers. A large picture of Mr. Wilson draped in mourning and the flag draped. The Legion quartet included S. F. Alderman, Rowland Jenkins, Harry Molgren and A. C. Miraz. Mrs. Walter F. Wieland was pianist.

GERMAN EMBASSY UNDER HEAVY GUARD

(By United Press)

Washington, Feb. 6.—Police today removed an American flag from above the door of the German embassy where it had been raised following the embassy's refusal to honor Woodrow Wilson's passing by displaying the German emblem at half mast.

The embassy was under heavy guard this morning pending a promise that the flag would be half-masted at 12:30 p. m.

Faster and Funnier Than "The Hottentot," Says Prominent Critic of "Going Up"

Letter From Western Editor of the Photoplay Magazine To

Douglas MacLean

Dear Mr. MacLean:

After having seen "GOING UP" at the Writers' Club last evening I cannot resist the temptation of telling you what a wonderful comedy I think it is. During the last two reels I wished the film would break or the lights go out—anything so that I might catch my breath and rest my laugh-weary sides.

I have seen a great many previews at the Writers' Club. No picture ever presented there has scored like "GOING UP" did. The Writers' Club is the most critical, picture-wise audience in the country and the fact that your production received unanimous and enthusiastic praise speaks highly for its future success. When you can see and hear famous authors, directors and actors shrieking with laughter as they did last night you may be sure your picture is great entertainment.

It is infinitely superior to "The Hottentot," which I understand is considered your outstanding success to date, having all of "The Hottentot's" virtues and many more. It is faster, funnier and doesn't let down for an instant. Above all, it is so delightfully clean and wholesome. In brief, a knockout. May you make many more like it.

Sincerely,

Adela Rogers St. Johns

WORK WILL BEGIN SOON ON NEW DAM

Royalton, Feb. 6.—Engineers, surveyors and foremen are arriving to begin work on the Mississippi river dam, three and a half miles northwest of Royalton. The contract for the construction has been taken by James O. Heyworth, contractor, of Chicago.

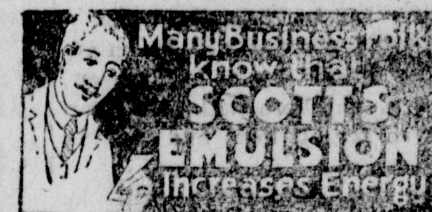

Bunk houses and other necessary buildings are to be constructed soon and the work will go along steadily, with the exception of inclement weather, during the winter months. Work was started clearing the site of trees and brush. There are 12 men employed now and more may be added next week. When the work gets under way it will require from 300 to 400 men.

The greatest need at present, these in charge say, is round coffer dam material. This timber must be six inches thick at the top and measure up to 16 feet long.

REPUBLICANS TO CONVENE IN CITY

So Decided at Committee Meeting
Monday. And Call Already Issued For District Convention

2:30 P. M. MARCH 7TH

150 Delegates From Every County
in 6th District to Elect National Convention Delegates

The following call to the Republican district convention was ordered
at the congressional committee meeting, held at D. D. Schrader's office
on Monday afternoon:

Resolved: By the Congressional Committee of the Republican party
of the 6th Congressional District,
duly assembled, pursuant to the call
by its chairman, and in the exercise
of power and duties conferred on it
by law, and pursuant to the call of State Central Committee of Republican Party of Minnesota, for the purpose of electing two delegates
and alternates, to the National Convention, to be held at Cleveland,
Ohio, on the 10th day of June, 1924,
and a statement of Party Principles.
Pursuant to this call said Congressional Convention will be held at Brainerd, Minnesota, at 2:30 P. M. on March 7, 1924. Each county
shall be entitled to elect to said District Convention one delegate for each five hundred votes cast for Republican Candidate for Governor
based on election of 1920, and three delegates at large. In accordance with the above apportionment the several counties shall be entitled to the following number of delegates to the District Convention.

	Del.	Alt.
Atkin	8	8
Beltrami	7	7
Benton	8	8
Cass	9	9
Crow Wing	12	12
Hubbard	7	7
Lake of Woods	7	7
Morrison	11	11
Sherburne	8	8
Stearns	21	21
Todd	12	12
Wadena	7	7

It is pointed out that this convention will bring to Brainerd at least 150 delegates, leaders from every county in the district, and is in reality one of the biggest conventions of its kind that has ever been entertained in Brainerd.

Mr. Schrader, who is chairman of the district, has not definitely decided where the convention headquarters will be, but will announce
the meeting place at a later date.

Resolved by the Crow Wing county
committee of the republican party duly assembled at the call of the chairman and in the exercise of powers and duties duly conferred on
it by law:

Time and Place of County Convention

1. That the place of holding the county convention shall be at Brainerd
court house in the State of Minnesota, and the time thereof shall be March 5, 1924 at 2:30 o'clock P. M.
as fixed by the Republican State
Central Committee in its official call heretofore issued.

Purpose of Convention

2. Said Convention shall be called to order by the Chairman of the County Committee, as provided by law, and shall proceed to organize
and shall be held for the purpose of:
(a) adopting a platform or statement of political principles; (b)
electing such delegates to the State
and Congressional District Convention as may be apportioned; (c) electing or apportioning in such manner as it deems best, a County Committee to serve until successors
are chosen.

Apportionment of Delegates to County Convention

3. The several election districts in the county, as provided by law,
are hereby allotted one delegate to the County Convention for each 50
votes or major fraction thereof cast
for the party candidate for Governor
at the 1922 General Election, as follows, provided each district shall have at least one delegate.

	Name or description of election district (precinct) and total num- ber of delegates entitled to send to county convention:

Officers of Convention—Duties As To Issuance Of Certificates

4. Upon the adjournment of the county convention, the chairman and secretary thereof shall certify a list of the names and addresses of all delegates elected to the state convention, or to the proper congressional district convention, to the secretary of the state committee and shall deliver a certificate of election
to each delegate elected.

Apportionment to be Certified to Secretary of State Committee by Chairman

5. This committee, acting by and through its chairman and secretary,
on or before February 9, 1924, shall certify to the Secretary of the State Committee the number of delegates allotted to each election district in the county.

We, D. D. Schrader, the chairman,
and Daisy A. Thabes the secretary,
of the Republican County Committee
of Crow Wing county, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct copy of a resolution duly adopted by said committee duly assembled by order of its chairman

STATEMENTS OF THE PARK BOARD

Activities of Past Year Mapped Out
by Commissioner Hugo A.
Kaatz

PRESENTED TO COUNCIL

Lum Park Pavilion Returned a Profit of $1,000 in 1923

The following is a condensed
statement of the report which Hugo
A. Kaatz secretary of the Brainerd
Park Board, submitted to the city council at its regular meeting on Monday night. It covers the activities of the board for the past year.

Receipts
January 1st, 1923, cash on hand	$ 844.97
Interest	8.40
Homecoming fund	357.29
Tax settlement and interest	2187.60
Profit from Lum Park pavilion	1000.00
Total	$4398.26
Disbursements
Caretaker's salaries	$1215.00
Labor	598.60
Material	969.17
Insurance	95.25
Flowers	175.90
Lockers	238.32
Moving and erecting bath houses	840.55
Total	$4133.99
Jan. 1st, balance on hand—$265.17.

Many improvements have been made at Lum park during the past season, all of which are of a permanent nature. Two free dressing rooms have been built, one for boys under 15 years of age, and one for girls under the same age.

A battery of 22 lockers for ladies
has been installed in the large square refreshment stand in the center of the park, at a cost of $250, which now nets a good income every season.

The band stand and bath houses
have been newly painted and the roofs of the band stand and pavilion repaired. The men's bath houses have been removed from the shore of the lake and 15 lockers added at a cost of $850.

Rentals of bathing suits and lockers brought in over $500 during the last season. More than three acres of park land have been cleared, during the past fall, which adds that much land to the park property.

One of the heaviest expenses last year was the replacing of the floor
in the pavilion. Improper ventilation had rotted the old floor to such an extent that nearly the entire floor
had to be rebuilt and is now under construction. Four splendid row boats have been purchased and a 75
foot dock built. As soon as more money available, more needed improvements will be added, as the park board intends to make Lum
park a real playground for the residents of Brainerd and vicinity.

Salvation Army

The Salvation Army Home League
will meet Thursday afternoon at the hall at 2 o'clock. Lunch will be served at 4 o'clock.

The Corps Cadet training class will meet at the hall at 4:30 o'clock.
There will be a young peoples meeting at the hall at 8 o'clock.
Everybody welcome.

one man were killed in accidents due to the sheet storm in northern Michigan today.

First Baptist Church
On Thursday evening at 7:50 o'clock the regular prayer meeting of the First Baptist church under direction of the Alpha class will be held, followed by a short business meeting of importance, to which every member of the board is urgently requested to be present as well as other members of the church.

ADVANCED FIRST AID IS TOPIC

Dr. R. A. Boise Addressed Men's
Training Class in Boy Scout
Leadership Tuesday

5TH PROGRAM IN SERIES

Other Lecturers and Demonstrators
Were Boy Scout Executive Stimble
and R. T. Campbell

"Advanced First Aid" was the interesting and instructive theme which Dr. R. A. Boise spoke upon
at the men's training class in Boy Scout leadership on Tuesday evening.

This was the fifth of the series in the course and in spite of the number of counter attractions on Tuesday evening, the class numbered
more than thirty.

Dr. Boise held the intense interest of his class for over an hour with his illustrated talk and his practical demonstrations on one of the class members. He explained the methods of bandaging, both roller and triangular, and the proper method of applying the tourniquet.

Scout Executive E. W. Stimble
demonstrated the Schaeffer method
of resuscitation, and illustrated three ways of breaking the hold of drowning person upon their rescuers, also
the various methods of transporting
the injured.

R. T. Campbell, city engineer, explained map making and map reading illustrating his talk with blackboard charts.

Everything that has been taken up in this course is of the most practical nature and has held the undivided attention of every man who has been in attendance. There are four more Tuesday evening sessions to be held before the course
is complete, and the men of the city are urged to attend the remaining sessions.

A LONG TIME INVESTMENT

Every Dodge Brothers Sedan body is steel
built throughout—sills, pillars, panels,
frames and all.

This all-steel design—exclusively a Dodge
Brothers feature—possesses certain practical advantages which recommend it most emphatically to the closed car buyer.

It reduces cost, assures a structural precision which is particularly evident in the snug fit of doors and windows, and results
in a staunchness of construction which

REPUBLICANS TO CONVENE IN CITY

So Decided at Committee Meeting
Monday, And Call Already Issued For District Convention

2:30 P. M. MARCH 7TH

150 Delegates From Every County
in 6th District to Elect National Convention Delegates

The following call to the Republican district convention was ordered
at the congressional committee meeting, held at D. D. Schrader's office
on Monday afternoon:

Resolved: By the Congressional Committee of the Republican party
of the 6th Congressional District,
duly assembled, pursuant to the call
by its chairman, and in the exercise
of power and duties conferred on it
by law, and pursuant to the call of
State Central Committee of Republican Party of Minnesota, for the purpose of electing two delegates
and alternates, to the National Convention, to be held at Cleveland,
Ohio, on the 10th day of June, 1924,
and a statement of Party Principles.
Pursuant to this call said Congress-sional Convention will be held at Brainerd, Minnesota, at 2:30 P. M. on March 7, 1924. Each county
shall be entitled to elect to said District Convention one delegate for
each five hundred votes cast for Republican Candidate for Governor,
based on election of 1920, and three delegates at large. In accordance with the above apportionment the
several counties shall be entitled to the following number of delegates to the District Convention.

	Del.	Alt.
Aitkin	8	8
Beltrami	7	7
Benton	8	8
Cass	9	9
Crow Wing	12	12
Hubbard	7	7
Lake of Woods	7	7
Morrison	11	11
Sherburne	8	8
Stearns	21	21
Todd	12	12
Wadena	7	7

It is pointed out that this convention will bring to Brainerd at least 150 delegates, leaders from every county in the district, and is
in reality one of the biggest conventions of its kind that has ever
been entertained in Brainerd.

Mr. Schrader, who is chairman
of the district, has not definitely decided where the convention headquarters will be, but will announce
the meeting place at a later date.

Resolved by the Crow Wing county
committee of the republican party duly assembled at the call of its chairman and in the exercise of powers and duties duly conferred on
it by law:

Time and Place of County Convention

1. That the place of holding the county convention shall be at Brainerd
court house in the State of Minnesota, and the time thereof shall be
March 5, 1924 at 2:30 o'clock P. M.
as fixed by the Republican State
Central Committee in its official call
heretofore issued.

Purpose of Convention

2. Said Convention shall be called to order by the Chairman of the County Committee, as provided by law, and shall proceed to organize
and shall be held for the purpose of:
(a) adopting a platform or statement of political principles; (b)
electing such delegates to the State
and Congressional District Convention as may be apportioned; (c)
electing or apportioning in such manner as it deems best, a County
Committee to serve until successors
are chosen.

Apportionment of Delegates to County Convention

3. The several election district
in the county, as provided by law,
are hereby allotted one delegate to the County Convention for each 50
votes or major fraction thereof cast
for the party candidate for Governor
at the 1922 General Election, as follows, provided each district shall
have at least one delegate.

Officers of Convention—Duties As To Issuance of Certificates

4. Upon the adjournment of the county convention, the chairman and secretary thereof shall certify a list of the names and addresses of all delegates elected to the state convention, or to the proper congressional district convention, to the secretary of the state committee and
shall deliver a certificate of election
to each delegate elected.

Apportionment to be Certified to Secretary of State Committee by Chairman

5. This committee, acting by and
through its chairman and secretary,
on or before February 9, 1924, shall
certify to the Secretary of the State Committee the number of delegates
allotted to each election district in
the county.

We, D. D. Schrader, the chairman,
and Daisy A. Thabes the secretary,
of the Republican County Committee
of Crow Wing county, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct copy of a resolution duly adopted by said committee duly assembled by order of its chairman on February 2, 1924.

STATEMENTS OF THE PARK BOARD

Activities of Past Year Mapped Out
by Commissioner Hugo A.
Kaatz

Lum Park Pavilion Returned a Profit of $1,000 in 1923

The following is a condensed
statement of the report which Hugo
A. Kaatz secretary of the Brainerd
Park Board, submitted to the city
council at its regular meeting on Monday night. It covers the activities of the board for the past year.

Receipts
January 1st, 1923, cash on hand	$ 844.97
Interest	8.40
Homecoming fund	357.29
Tax settlement and interest	2187.60
Profit from Lum Park pavilion	1000.00
Total	$4398.26

Disbursements
Caretaker's salaries	$1215.00
Labor	598.60
Material	969.17
Insurance	95.25
Flowers	175.90
Lockers	238.32
Moving and erecting bath houses	840.55
Total	$4133.99

Jan. 1st, balance on hand—$265.17.

Many improvements have been made at Lum park during the past season, all of which are of a permanent nature. Two free dressing
rooms have been built, one for boys
under 15 years of age, and one for
girls under the same age.

A battery of 22 lockers for ladies
has been installed in the large square
refreshment stand in the center of the park, at a cost of $250, which
now nets a good income every season.
The band stand and bath houses
have been newly painted and the
roofs of the band stand and pavilion
have been removed from the shore of the lake and 15 lockers added at a cost of $850.

Rentals of bathing suits and lockers brought in over $500 during the last season. More than three acres
of park land have been cleared, during the past fall, which adds that
much land to the park property.

One of the heaviest expenses last
year was the replacing of the floor
in the pavilion. Improper ventilation had rotted the old floor to such an extent that nearly the entire floor
had to be rebuilt and is now under construction. Four splendid row
boats have been purchased and a 75
foot dock built. As soon as more
money available, more needed improvements will be added, as the
park board intends to make Lum
park a real playground for the residents of Brainerd and vicinity.

Salvation Army

The Salvation Army Home League
will meet Thursday afternoon at the

ADVANCED FIRST AID IS TOPIC

Dr. R. A. Boise Addressed Men's
Training Class in Boy Scout
Leadership Tuesday

5TH PROGRAM IN SERIES

Other Lecturers and Demonstrators
Were Boy Scout Executive Stimble
and R. T. Campbell

"Advanced First Aid" was the interesting and instructive theme
which Dr. R. A. Boise spoke upon
at the men's training class in Boy Scout leadership on Tuesday evening.

This was the fifth of the series in the course and in spite of the number of counter attractions on Tuesday evening, the class numbered
more than thirty.

Dr. Boise held the intense interest
of his class for over an hour with
his illustrated talk and his practical
demonstrations on one of the class members. He explained the methods of bandaging, both roller and triangular, and the proper method of
applying the tourniquet.

Scout Executive E. W. Stimble
demonstrated the Schaeffer method
of resuscitation, and illustrated three
ways of breaking the hold of drowning person upon their rescuers, also
the various methods of transporting
the injured.

R. T. Campbell, city engineer, explained map making and map reading illustrating his talk with blackboard charts.

Everything that has been taken
up in this course is of the most practical nature and has held the
undivided attention of every man who has been in attendance. There are four more Tuesday evening sessions to be held before the course
is complete, and the men of the city
are urged to attend the remaining
sessions.

A LONG TIME INVESTMENT

Every Dodge Brothers Sedan body is steel
built throughout—sills, pillars, panels,
frames and all.

This all-steel design—exclusively a Dodge
Brothers feature—possesses certain practical advantages which recommend it most emphatically to the closed car buyer.

It reduces cost, assures a structural precision which is particularly evident in the
snug fit of doors and windows, and results
in a staunchness of construction which guarantees to the owner a long time investment—and a long time satisfaction.

NO WAY TO MAKE CHAMPS FIGHT—FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Feb. 6.—Boxing champions, according to the accepted line of reasoning, should be forced to defend their titles at least occasionally.

The New York Boxing Commission, exercising jurisdiction over the sport in its most active field, attempts to enforce the rule that a champion must defend his title at least once in each six months.

The New York Commission has not succeeded, because it has been forced to admit its inability to make several of the champions observe that rule.

The rule is fair in theory and in principle, but it might be argued that if champions should be forced to actually prove that they are champions, challengers likewise should be forced to fight to show their right to challenge.

The New York Commission has suggested that a champion who does not want to defend his title or who has outgrown his class should announce his retirement, so that the commission could arrange a tournament among the challengers to decide the successor to the title.

This was a compromise, or a back-step, made after the commission had learned that it couldn't declare titles of non-active champions vacant and appoint new champions.

As an attempt to select new champions failed, bringing much humiliation upon the commission, so will the idea of tournaments fall short of success if it is attempted.

The same thing, in this case, would happen that is now taking place in England, where the boxing officials are trying to decide upon a new flyweight champion.

Jimmy Wilde, who was knocked out last summer by Pancho Villa, announced his retirement from the ring and the title of British flyweight champion was made vacant.

British officials thought it would be a pious idea to put the title up for open competition and award it to the survivor of an elimination tournament among the challengers.

It failed to succeed.

The contenders all claimed the title and not one of them was willing to fight to prove his right to the title. The title is now claimed by four contenders.

Although the champions of three notorious classes in the United States have not retired, and will not retire, the same situation would be found in this country if the titles should become vacant.

FLIERS WERE LOST IN FOG

JACK SPEED AND JACK COPE LOCATED IN ILLINOIS TODAY

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Jack Speed, Minneapolis flier and Jack Cope, Chicago pilot who left Chicago late yesterday in an airplane were located today at Dolhoo, Illinois, about 40 miles from here.

The fliers became lost in the snow and fog.

Cope telephoned Checkerboard field here today he and Speed had escaped injury. Cope said they lost their way and decided to land rather than take a chance of crashing.

Speed had purchased a used plane at Checkerboard field in west Chicago which he wanted to take to Ashburn field about ten miles away.

"Who'll come along?" he cried and Cope, a daredevil stunt flier volunteered.

Large flakes of snow were falling when they took off. Ashburn field heard an airplane motor sometimes toward and then away from them, but the snow and fog hid the airplane from field employees.

LABOR PLANS A BIG BUILDING PROGRAM

WITH GOVERNMENT AID, CLAIMS HOMES FOR 500,000 PEOPLE CAN BE BUILT IN YEAR

(By United Press)

London, Feb. 6.—The new labor government of England has for one of its leading plans the building of houses to shelter half a million people. It is planned to build these in a year.

Whether the plan will go through will depend largely on the life of the labor government and the degree of co-operation it can command from the Liberals and Conservatives. No one can guarantee the question of the life of the MacDonald government.

As far as co-operation is concerned however, the labor leaders claim they have been promised the help of the Liberals, while they say they will gain some Tory help—it won't be much, but Lady Astor and the Duchess of Atholl are said to have promised their personal support to the plan from party friends.

Here's the Program

The housing program will probably be changed from time to time, but, roughly, at the start it is about as follows:

1. Gently persuade the various "building material rings" to reduce their prices.
2. If obdurate, then, in Ramsay MacDonald's own language, "break them."
3. Encourage municipalities to go ahead with building, letting contracts directly under government guarantee.
4. Where municipalities or local authorities feel it to be necessary, give them power to purchase brick-yards and make their own material.
5. Contractors who are willing to work, in co-operation with the government, showing their books and their costs and accepting a reasonable profit, to be preferred over those contractors who decline to do so.

At present the building unions in Great Britain have 13 per cent of their members totally unemployed. As soon as the building program takes up these idle workers, the unions have agreed to take in the building trades enough ex-soldiers to guarantee against lack of workers to carry out the program.

To insure government funds to aid this program the labor cabinet has decided to either scrap altogether or greatly reduce the costs of a number of projects which labor regards as of militaristic tendency. Included is the proposed naval station at Singapore or Cape Town and two or three other plans whose aggregate cost would be many millions of pounds.

The program, if supported by enough members of Parliament, could be carried out in a year, according to Premier MacDonald.

Was a Good Judge of Liquor

"Since a young man I had a liking for liquor and was considered a pretty good judge of it at one time, but constant drinking gave me stomach trouble which became chronic. My stomach would have been a valuable addition to a gas factory. Doctors did not seem to relieve me. One day my druggist got me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now as good as new." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere.

TUTANKHAMEN'S STONE COFFIN FOUND

(By United Press)

Luxor, Egypt, Feb. 6.—For the first time in 3200 years, the stone coffin of Tutankhamen was brought out today.

The massive stone coffin is quite simple in design. The sarcophagus is thought to be even larger than that of Haremheb in an adjoining tomb. The four crowned goddesses, guarding the coffin, are deeply inscribed.

The tackle for raising the lid of the coffin revealing the mummy is ready but the date for opening has not been announced. Discussions are pending. It is understood between the government and excavators as to the date.

Most Amusing Comedy Seen at the New Park

A man who is scared to death and pretends he isn't has always been made into sure-fire comedy on the stage and still more so on the screen. Such is the basis of "Going Up," Douglas MacLean's first star photoplay, which was presented at the New Park this afternoon and will be shown again tonight and Thursday. Mr. MacLean and his excellent supporting cast develop this famous musical comedy into a riot of laughter. To see this film hero looping and zigzagging in a contest with a real French ace and finally chasing him out of the sky is one of the most novel and shrieking situations yet devised by a screen comedian.

Heretofore, everyone in the movies has taken aviation and aviators seriously. "Going Up," presents the humorous side of flying with a few blood curdling thrills thrown in for good measure. There is nothing serious about the story except the desperate plight of the young aviator played by Mr. MacLean, who has to fly an airplane and can't.

DOROTHY DALTON and JQSE RUBEN in a Scene from the Paramount Picture "DARK SECRETS"

A most cosmopolitan assemblage is seen in Dorothy Dalton's new Paramount production, "Dark Secrets," which comes to the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Thursday. The scene is a gorgeous hotel in Cairo, Egypt, with its picturesque courtyard and terraces, its lily-pond and statuary, romantic looking balconies and distant palm trees. The exotic atmosphere is enhanced by the presence of birds of gorgeous plumage and tropical plants and flowers. The scene is rich with the color of interesting costumes and unusual uniforms as contrasted with the conventional garments of the Americans.

NO WAY TO MAKE CHAMPS FIGHT—FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Feb. 6.—Boxing champions, according to the accepted line of reasoning, should be forced to defend their titles at least occasionally.

The New York Boxing Commission, exercising jurisdiction over the sport in its most active field, attempts to enforce the rule that a champion must defend his title at least once in each six months.

The New York Commission has not succeeded, because it has been forced to admit its inability to make several of the champions observe that rule.

The rule is fair in theory and in principle, but it might be argued that if champions should be forced to actually prove that they are champions, challengers likewise should be forced to fight to show their right to challenge.

The New York Commission has suggested that a champion who does not want to defend his title or who has outgrown his class should announce his retirement, so that the commission could arrange a tournament among the challengers to decide the successor to the title.

This was a compromise, or a back-step, made after the commission had learned that it couldn't declare titles of non-active champions vacant and appoint new champions.

As an attempt to select new champions failed, bringing much humiliation upon the commission, so will the idea of tournaments fall short of success if it is attempted.

The same thing, in this case, would happen that is now taking place in England, where the boxing officials are trying to decide upon a new flyweight champion.

Jimmy Wilde, who was knocked out last summer by Pancho Villa, announced his retirement from the ring and the title of British flyweight champion was made vacant.

British officials thought it would be a pious idea to put the title up for open competition and award it to the survivor of an elimination tournament among the challengers.

It failed to succeed.

The contenders all claimed the title and not one of them was willing to fight to prove his right to the title. The title is now claimed by four contenders.

Although the champions of three notorious classes in the United States have not retired, and will not retire, the same situation would be found in this country if the titles should become vacant.

LABOR PLANS A BIG BUILDING PROGRAM

WITH GOVERNMENT AID. CLAIMS HOMES FOR 500,000 PEOPLE CAN BE BUILT IN YEAR

(By United Press)

London, Feb. 6.—The new labor government of England has for one of its leading plans the building of houses to shelter half a million people. It is planned to build these in a year.

Whether the plan will go through will depend largely on the life of the labor government and the degree of co-operation it can command from the Liberals and Conservatives. No one can guarantee the question of the life of the MacDonald government.

As far as co-operation is concerned however, the labor leaders claim they have been promised the help of the Liberals, while they say they will gain some Tory help—it won't be much, but Lady Astor and the Duchess of Atholl are said to have promised their personal support to the plan from party friends.

Here's the Program

The housing program will probably be changed from time to time, but, roughly, at the start it is about as follows:

1. Gently persuade the various "building material rings" to reduce their prices.
2. If obdurate, then, in Ramsay MacDonald's own language, "break them."
3. Encourage municipalities to go ahead with building, letting contracts directly under government guarantees.
4. Where municipalities or local authorities feel it to be necessary, give them power to purchase brick-yards and make their own material.
5. Contractors who are willing to work, in co-operation with the government, showing their books and their costs and accepting a reasonable profit, to be preferred over those contractors who decline to do so.

At present the building unions in Great Britain have 13 per cent of their members totally unemployed. As soon as the building program takes up these idle workers, the unions have agreed to take in the building trades enough ex-soldiers to guarantee against lack of workers to carry out the program.

To insure government funds to aid this program the labor cabinet has decided to either scrap altogether or greatly reduce the costs of a number of projects which labor regards as of militaristic tendency. Included is the proposed naval station at Singapore or Cape Town and two or three other plans whose aggregate cost would be many millions of pounds.

The program, if supported by enough members of Parliament, could be carried out in a year, according to Premier MacDonald.

TUTANKHAMEN'S STONE COFFIN FOUND

(By United Press)

Luxor, Egypt, Feb. 6.—For the first time in 3200 years, the stone coffin of Tutankhamen was brought out today.

The massive stone coffin is quite simple in design. The sarcophagus is thought to be even larger than that of Haremheb in an adjoining tomb. The four crowned goddesses, guarding the coffin, are deeply inscribed.

The tackle for raising the lid of the coffin revealing the mummy is ready but the date for opening has not been announced. Discussions are pending, it is understood between the government and excavators as to the date.

Most Amusing Comedy Seen at the New Park

A man who is scared to death and pretends he isn't has always been made into sure-fire comedy on the stage and still more so on the screen. Such is the basis of "Going Up," Douglas MacLean's first star photoplay, which was presented at the New Park this afternoon and will be shown again tonight and Thursday.

Mr. MacLean and his excellent supporting cast develop this famous musical comedy into a riot of laughter. To see this film hero looping and zig-zagging in a contest with a real French ace and finally chasing him out of the sky is one of the most novel and shrieking situations yet devised by a screen comedian.

Heretofore, everyone in the movies has taken aviation and aviators seriously. "Going Up," presents the humorous side of flying with a few blood curdling thrills thrown in for good measure. There is nothing serious about the story except the desperate plight of the young author played by Mr. MacLean, who has to fly an airplane and can't.

A most cosmopolitan assemblage is seen in Dorothy Dalton's new Paramount production, "Dark Secrets," which comes to the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Thursday. The scene is a gorgeous hotel in Cairo, Egypt, with its picturesque courtyard and terraces, its lily-pond and statuary, romantic looking balconies and distant palm trees. The exotic atmosphere is enhanced by the presence of birds of gorgeous plumage and tropical plants and flowers. The scene is rich with the color of interesting costumes and unusual uniforms as contrasted with the conventional garments of the Americans.

In addition to Miss Dalton's party of American tourists are seen English army officers, one of whom, Lord Wallington, is her sweetheart; then there are Arabs in full desert regalia, gay ladies from Spain, Hindus, Egyptians, Mussulmans' Orientals and attaches of various legations. Small page boys and waiters, barefoot and swarthy of skin, their heads swathed in turbans, dart in and out among the pleasure seekers, performing their duties. Here too, the sinister Dr. Ali, an Egyptian physician, uses his poisonous influence to gain the confidence of Ruth Rutherford, played by Miss Dalton.
